About Tales of the Crypt

Held the second Tuesday of October, Tales of the Crypt is an annual Mount Holly event. Under the direction of Tamara Zinck, drama students are each given a person's name, who is buried in the cemetery, to research and "bring to life". Award-winning local costumer, Debi Manire, designs the wonderful historical costumes for the students to wear as they perform monologues at the gravesites. Parkview English teacher, Erica Ivy, assists students with editing their scripts. Student tour guides escort groups from gravesite to gravesite to learn more about those who shaped central Arkansas in to what it is today. Although it takes place around the same time as Halloween, the event is meant to be historic rather than spooky. Admission is free to the public; however donations to Mount Holly Cemetery are appreciated. More information can be found at:
